

“RAMAYANA: THE STORY OF LIFE”

FINAL RESULT AND LETTER

Dear Contestant,

We are delighted to inform you that we, as organisers, were truly impressed by your outstanding performance. You demonstrated a great understanding of the concepts, and we believe you will embody the principles and ideals of the Ramayana, which will help you lead a meaningful life.

You might be pleased to know that after the interviews, the judges remarked how inspiring it was for them to witness the depth of your understanding at such a young age. In fact, they found it challenging to select the winners, as many participants performed exceptionally well.

When we asked the candidates about their experience reading the Ramayana, they shared that it was wonderful. Many noted that, while they had previously watched it on TV or in movies, reading it deeply offered them valuable insights and helped them appreciate the beauty and intricacies of various characters.

We were also pleased to observe that many participants were previous contestants who have continued to follow us and participate in our contests to gain the maximum benefit. They encouraged us to keep up the good work, recognizing that these contests instill courage and hope in the youth, preparing them to become a strong backbone for the country.

The judges were not informed of the participants' written scores, and we made every effort to ensure the process was as objective and transparent as possible throughout the contest.

Whatever their initial motivation for participating, every contestant expressed that they had learned something new—perhaps something they would not have known had it not been for reading the ebook and taking part in the contest.

We deeply appreciate your effort and enthusiasm in participating. Despite being busy with your academic or professional responsibilities, you still found the time to join us. While you may not have won the scholarship or achieved the rank you aimed for, we believe that the values you have imbibed from reading the Ramayana are far more valuable than any award. The wisdom you've gained will undoubtedly guide you in becoming a compassionate and wise individual.

We are confident that you will continue to be an asset to your family and to our great nation.

We wish you all the very best in your future endeavours!

Love and blessings,
Dr. Anupama Reddy,
Vice-Chairperson,
Aaryajanani Trust
